WASHINGTON — Lt. Gen. Arthur G. Trudeau, Army chief of research and development and an outspoken figure in the Senate's prope of military muzzling, is a lad post. The Senate investigation possibility for appointment less has bed trouble with acceptance. as deputy director of the Central Intelligence Agency, The News and Courier learned yesterday.

Trudeau, once chief of Army intelligence, is due for retirement June 30. But if named as CIA's number two man, he would be promoted to four-star gank and retained on active duty indefinitely. A military man must be appointed as CIA's deputy director because the law requires that when the director is a civilian.
